Yearbook team's Message

The academic year of 2022-2023 was a treasure trove of joyous memories and exhilarating moments that we couldn't confine to our minds alone. Thus, we present to you the Farewell Yearbook, so that those memories can be cherished by you in decades to come. Our team has curated the highlights of your DP years and tried to capture them artistically.

In order to create something which you could look back on and smile about in the coming months or years. Hopefully, this yearbook will be a portal to the past for you to relive those memories once again. Because we all know no matter where life takes us, we all will always remember our school days and most importantly, the people who made them unforgettable.

Love,
the Yearbook Team

MS. SONYA GHANDY MEHTA

School Director

Take pride in how far you've come. Have faith in how far you can go. But don't forget to enjoy the journey – Michael Josephson

The graduating class of 2020 was special to me for being the first graduating class after I joined Pathways. And you, the graduating class of 2023, are also a unique group for me, considering that you were the first graduating class that administered the Alumni oath with me, giving me an experience of immense nostalgia. I went back years down memory lane reliving days of my graduation, that were so different from yours.

'Patience' and 'faith' are two pillars that you can always rely on. Give life a 'better than your best shot' and leave the rest to destiny. You will never get less than your share or more than it. So, work hard, never stop having fun and always wear a 'never give up' attitude.

God bless and good luck for everything that you do and all that you desire!

MS. MANJULA SHENOI

SC Principal

"The woods are lovely, dark and deep
But you have promises to keep
And miles to go before you sleep
And miles to go before you sleep!"
Robert Frost

Your school journey ends, and another door opens with loads of opportunities. It's been a remarkable journey with you all. My dear students, set your goals high and always dream big. Because you are only as big as the dreams, you dare to live. You have gained all the knowledge and skill set that you need to walk this new path that awaits you. Walk this path with faith and belief in yourself and take the challenges as opportunities to grow and glow. You have always held our heads high with your achievements, keep up this spirit and continue to work with dedication and sincerity. I know that your future will be bright, and I look forward to hearing about your excellence. Scale new heights and grow in confidence. Continue to be the maverick and think out of the box, no problem in life is big enough if you have this ability.

Thank you dear students for being an important part of this institution. Life is a fabulous journey full of expectations, joys, and of course, ups and downs. You have been with this school for a long period and now you stand at the threshold. Enter into a completely new world with enthusiasm and new hopes... the woods are lovely, dark and deep.... Have an ambition in life and keep dreaming till you fulfil your dream! May God shower his blessing on you abundantly. Wish you all a successful life!

Dream Big, Stay Positive, Work Hard, and, Enjoy the Journey!

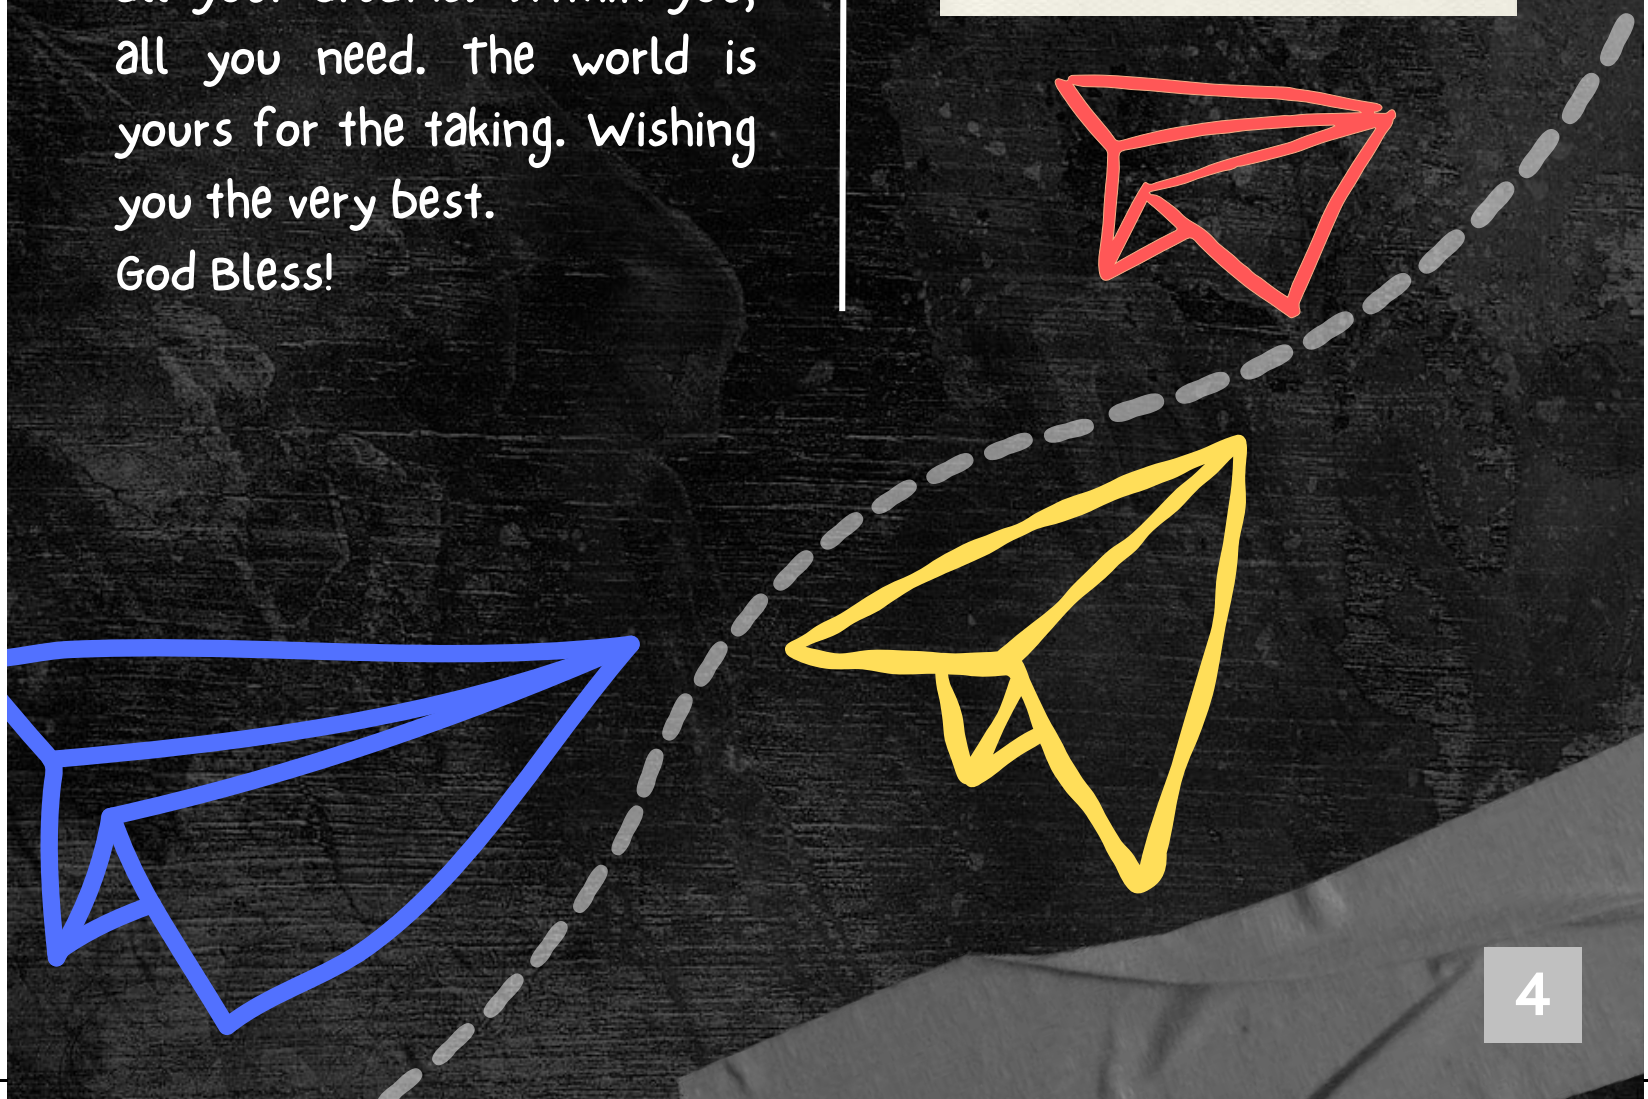

MS. MONA SHARMA

DP Coordinator

Dear Batch of 2023,

At this time of the year when I look back at the wonderful two years spent with you during your Diploma Program Journey, I have many reasons to celebrate. Behind you, all your memories. Ahead of you, all your dreams. Within you, all you need. The world is yours for the taking. Wishing you the very best.
God Bless!

OJAS KATIYAR

SC President

For many of us, the end of these two years marks a bittersweet ending to the cumbersome struggle, that is the IB Diploma Programme. Yet, when we reminisce over our school days it won't be the academic slaving of these years that will remain etched in our memories. Instead, we will remember Ananye's never-ending ability to make the whole batch laugh out loud in assemblies, chit chat during the transitions, interactions with the teachers. These little moments will be what make up my memories when I think back to what our batch meant to us, the amalgamation of marvelous, comical, and most importantly unique individuals all sharing an rollercoaster of a year together.

The word "Pathways" will spark an assorted bag of emotions, from feelings of exhaustion to sentiments of togetherness. That said, I am sure that each one of us will agree that our however many years in Pathways have distinctly shaped us. We may find new mentors and new friends in years to come but I can say with certainty, that the bonds and lessons we've learned in the last two years are special in the way that we'll never find the same mentors and friends that we created in these years

Our formative years are often the building of who we become in the years to come, and I cannot imagine any other place spending my teenage years. The literal 24/7 availability of my teachers to respond to any random doubt I have or the awe-inspiring opportunity that I was given of being the student council president are, at the cost of repeating myself, unforgettable. It may not be the same thing, but I'm sure that each one of us has created a special connection with our friends, our teachers, and our juniors that would constitute the "good old days". So however much the end of DP's insurmountable workload may seem sweet, the closing of this chapter in our lives is sure to be bitter.

"In IB there are no winners; only survivors." – A guy on Reddit

Over-exaggerated, but that's really what it felt like. Of course, the never-ending deadlines were tough, but entering Takshila in PE uniform on Mondays? Hiding tuck from the teachers on bag-check days? Or what about walking into a room of AA HL students? (Yes, we know you're better at math.)

Being completely honest, I'm currently struggling writing this yearbook message. Having been in IB for so long, I've nearly forgotten how to write a genuine essay that isn't academic. I'm sure your past two years would have differed from mine, and writing about my journey solely wouldn't do any good. So, here are some memes I've created – all original, academic honesty pro at this point.

Our experience wouldn't be the same without the teachers. From the batch of 2023, I would like to thank each and every teacher, regardless of whether you've taught our class or not. It is because of your hard-work, dedication, and faith in us even when we failed to meet our deadlines on time (every time), that we are able to be where we are today. There are no words to express my gratitude. Thank you.

To all my batchmates, congratulations on getting through the IB. It was a tough, tough journey, one that even Kim Jong-Un couldn't accomplish (it's a rumor please don't @ me). All the very best wishes for a bright and successful future ahead!

What will you miss most about FT time?

FT Time? I'd probably call it "free talking" time. It was the honestly the best way to start my day, especially with my friends and the atmosphere that we had. I would probably miss ranting to everyone and playing mindless games early in the morning to wake up.

What is an advice you would like to give DP2 students?

Give yourself a break. I know it may sound repetitive and sometimes you think one exam grade might be the end of the world, but it's not. One thing that I kept telling myself was that there were those before you who got through this, so can you. I found it oddly comforting to know that somewhere down the end of this unpredictable journey, you can always look for guidance and hold out hope for your own future, seeing those before you flourish.

Taylor Swift or Navita maam?

This is possibly one of the hardest questions I've been asked in a while. Quite honestly, I wouldn't be passing chemistry without either one of them so it's really an impossible decision.

on the AIR

...WITH ANANYE GOEL

Which teacher do you think dislikes you the most?

Suman ma'am.

Which teacher do you think likes you the most?

Mona ma'am and Vrinda ma'am.

What are your favourite memories from the boarding?

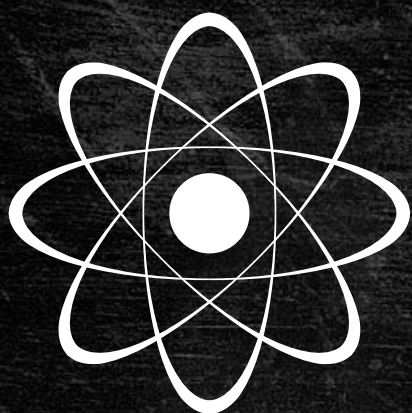

After lights out, we used to run in the corridor and used to sit together. Playing songs in prep time on full volume.

on the AIR

...WITH KRISH JINDAL

How does it feel acing Physics?

Well, being honest, acing physics wasn't that challenging. It required minimal effort and dedication but quite worth it for that additional feeling of accomplishing something even though irrelevant. I'm grateful for the guidance of my physics teacher who dragged me to every deadline.

How does it feel to have a lot of things to boast about?

What do I even boast about, I got nothing?

Tell us something that you'll miss most about DP

Well, to be honest, there are a few things that I'll miss about DP. For one, I'll miss those lazy afternoons spent hanging out with my friends in empty classrooms or corridors. I'll also miss the hilarious moments that we shared in class, like when Saksham set off an explosion in the chemistry lab resulting in an evacuation of the class or when Amit sir made us stand like a 'sofa' when we did not finish our homework. What I will not miss is DP1, a hellish year in which nobody knew what they were doing/ All in all, DP was a wild ride, and I'm sure I'll look back on it with a mix of nostalgia and relief that I survived it.

on the AIR

...WITH MUSKAN OBEROI

Have you ever taken advantage of being the Head of the Ed Board?

I've actually never used my position as the head of the Ed board to my advantage, because I always believed that I was given this opportunity to help inspire creativity amongst the DP community and motivate creators to share their work.

What is something you'll miss the most about school?

I think what I'll miss the most is all the fun times I had with my friends in school. Us just chilling in class after finishing our work and playing around.

What's an advice you would like to give to future DP2 students?

An advice I'd like to give is that finish all your IAs and EEs before November of DP2 so that you can focus on exams. Another piece of advice is to study effectively with breaks because if you study for hours it's likely that you'll burnout before exams. So take breaks, relax and enjoy your high school years. Rejuvenate yourself and motivate yourself to study smarter not longer.

Advice for your batch?

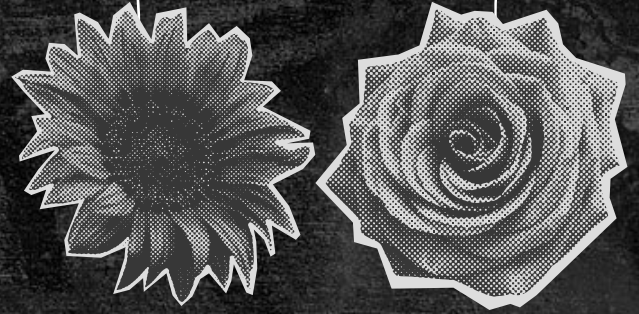

Don't waste time worrying about all the 'what ifs' in life, but rather focus on what makes you happy and what makes you whole. Take the opportunity to try a few things, learn new things and never be afraid of change because change gives you all the unexpected wonders in life. Sometimes you have to take the risk or lose the chance. So don't be afraid, jump into the rough waters and take the risk to do what you love.

Dear students,

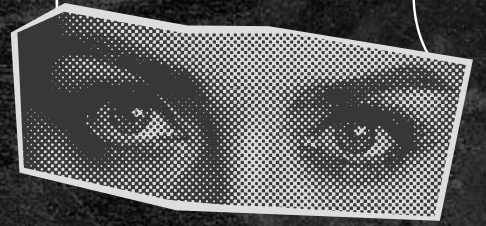

Graduation is a bittersweet experience. Going out into the world means leaving behind the friends and teachers who have become so important to you. Even though it may be sad, it's also thrilling. We are aware that the work you've done over the past years has well-prepared you for the upcoming chances and challenges. No one is more qualified than you to meet those difficulties head-on with tenacity, wit, and knowledge. I hope you take advantage of everything life gives you!

TEACHER'S MESSAGES

Dear students,

As the academic year comes to a close, I want to take this opportunity to say farewell and congratulate you on all your accomplishments. It has been a privilege to work with such a talented and enthusiastic group of young minds. As you move on to the next phase of your life, remember the lessons you have learned and the friendships you have made. Carry them with you always as you embark on new challenges and adventures.

Never forget the power of education, and the impact it can have on your future. Pursue your dreams with passion and dedication, and always strive for excellence.

I wish you all the best in your future endeavours and look forward to hearing about your continued success.

~Kartar Singh Kathuria

TEACHER'S MESSAGES

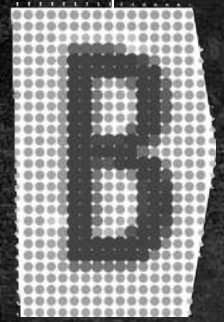

Dear students,

It's a bittersweet moment for all of us when you graduate. Though, for me it was a brief timespan with you all but the memories that I carry for this short period are still profound. Your laughter(s), your chuckles, your naughtiness, your quick-wittedness will all be missed hugely in Takshila. You are leaving behind the friends and teachers who have come to mean so much to you and going off into the wide world. And while it may be bittersweet, it's also exciting, too. We know that all the work you've done these last fourteen years have prepared you well for the new challenges and opportunities that will come your way.

It is a time of celebration and joy, but also a time for 'reflection' on what has been accomplished and a time for good-byes. May your reflections on the past keep you grounded while your dreams for the future keep you moving forward. Do make the most of everything life sends your way! Adieu! Much Love!

~Divya Sachdeva

TEACHER'S MESSAGES

Dear students,

As I reflect on the year that has passed, I am struck by the resilience and perseverance that you have all shown. Despite the challenges and uncertainties we have faced, you have continued to show up, to learn, and to grow.

"History is not just a subject, it's a lens through which we can understand the world and ourselves. In this unprecedented time, we've seen how the past shapes the present and the future. As we move forward, let us use the lessons of history to build a better world for all."

We have explored significant events, individuals, and movements that have shaped our world, and it's essential to remember that we too are part of history in the making.

As you move forward into the next chapter of your lives, I encourage you to remember the lessons of the past and to use them as a guide for the future. Whether you are building new communities, pursuing new careers, or making a difference in the world in other ways, you have the power to shape the course of history.

I am proud of all that you have accomplished, and I am excited to see the impact that you will continue to make in the years to come.

~ Radhika Gahlaut

TEACHER'S MESSAGES

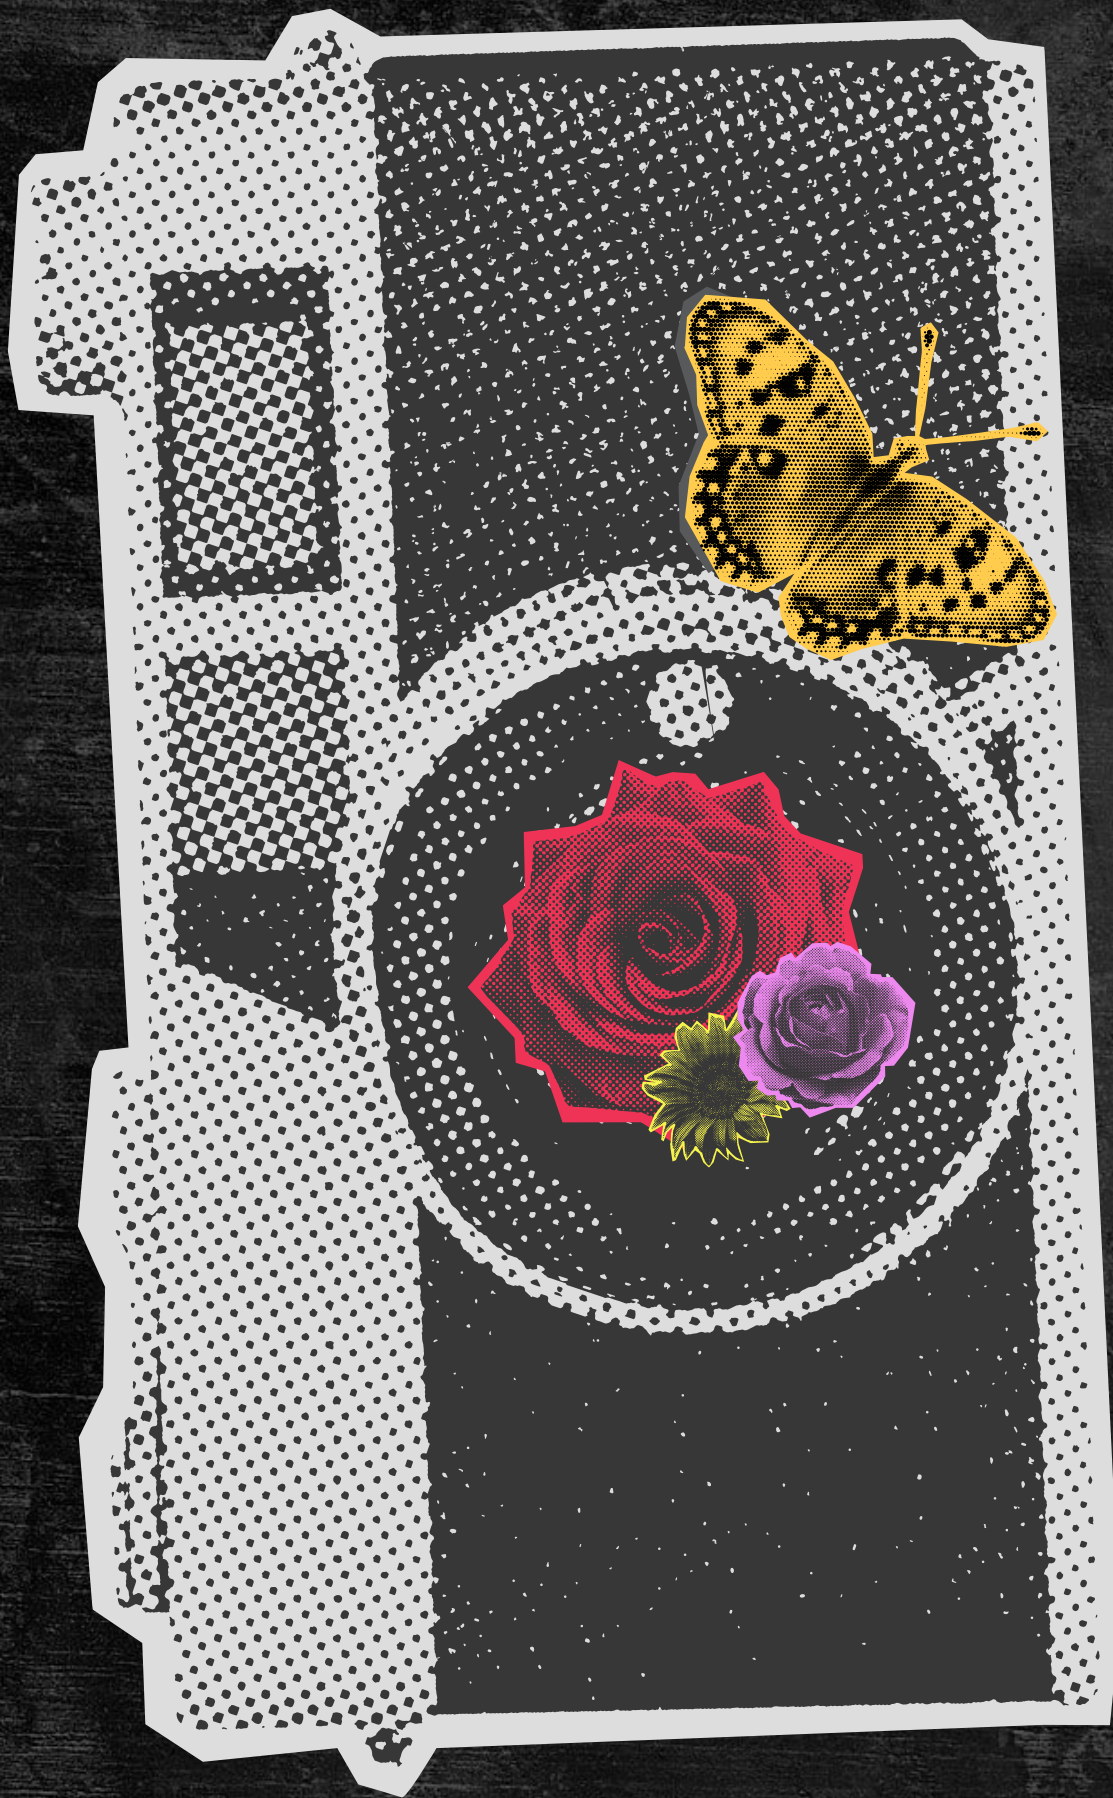

When we started our journey, little did we know that we will build such beautiful bonds. Needless to say that the past months were difficult, as we adjusted to each others' needs. Through these confusing yet challenging times, we understood each other, built trust and inspired each other. Lessons with my students in Visual Arts have been enriching and have given me new insights on art. Through our various interactions, we integrated technology into art, we looked at traditional and contemporary art practices and how beautiful the results have been!!! We also came across the difficulties which we together solved. In this entire process, I grew as a teacher and I shall remain ever indebted to this batch particularly for being resilient and for trusting me. I wish you a very happy and healthy life ahead.

Technology has taken up a huge space in our lives; but please remember to value your relationships, books, canvas and paint brushes too! Always nurture and encourage good and positive thoughts. The world is in dire need of rationality and peace and you are the generation, I believe, will definitely be the torchbearers to positive changes. Take good care of your health, for, in a healthy body, a healthy heart and mind reside. Wish you all the success and joys ahead.
